PLANNING YOUR WEDDING

EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW AND DO!

A Wedding Without a Plan is Often a Disaster!

The day you've been waiting for has finally arrived. Your partner has proposed marriage and you've emphatically said 'YES!' Now what do you do? The answer to that simple question will make a tremendous difference in how the real 'big day' plays out. Gone are the days when weddings were simple affairs that took place on family farms with all the neighbors pitching in to help. Today the bride and the groom are the ones calling all the shots. Others will try to get involved, but overall, it's the two people getting married who decide what's going to happen, when and how.

With so much to coordinate, it's amazing that weddings go on at all. Considering that both the bride and the groom are likely holding down full-time jobs, who has time to work out all the details? And there are so many. Well the big secret is it's all in the plan. Having a well-thought out plan that starts with selecting the perfect wedding date and ends with arriving at the most romantic honeymoon destination is the only way to keep nerves from fraying and budgets from being blown.

Plenty of tools are available to help you plan your wedding. It's up to you to decide which tool will work best for you and then you've got to make sure you use the tool you've selected. Wedding planning tools range in price so before you go spending any money, take a step back and think for a moment about the b-word. A 'budget' is crucial because it's what will keep you and your partner (and anyone else funding the festivities) from going into debt. As unflattering as the word is, every wedding needs to begin with a budget. Wedding costs can rapidly spiral out of control because let's face it, everybody wants their big day to be magical.

To determine a budget for the big day, start with figuring out who is going to be contributing towards the finances and how much each can afford to contribute. Once you have a total dollar amount to work with, you can then begin to allocate the budget to the different parts of the wedding.

The wedding plans all begin with the wedding date. Everybody wants to be a June bride, but with only four week-ends in this month, not everybody can. The wedding date you select will have a significant impact on your budget. A wedding during the busy summer months will cost far more than one that's held off-season. Not only will the wedding date impact the price you'll pay for everything from the function hall to the photographer, it also impacts availability.

40 DAY GUIDE TO PLANNING THE PERFECT WEDDING

1 HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

Planning your wedding in 40 days, it may take you a bit longer than that to figure out what you want to serve at your wedding reception! This guide will help you through the entire process of planning your wedding, no matter if you do it in 40 days or it takes you a bit longer.

This guide has a design to be used in order, but your situation may be different. For example, you may have already found that perfect wedding dress or you may not need to worry about the cake for the wedding. Your goal should be to know what you need to do how to get it done and when to get it done to ensure that the entire process goes smoothly.

This step-by-step planning guide for your wedding should provide you with everything you need to know to plan your wedding. Check off the chapters as you work through them. Take notes in the sides of each page to ensure that you are noting where you stand on each topic. The good news is that the process is easy to do and it does allow you to get it all under control in just four days.

This step-by-step guide gives you plenty of room for getting everything done, from telling your parents about the wedding itself to walking down the aisle. Be sure to include your family members in the planning, if you would like to. They too can offer suggestions, tips and perhaps even help you to pick the best accessories to complete your wedding.

At the end of each chapter is a section where you can jot down what you did, what you still need to do and to make other notes as you need to. Create a to-do list for yourself, if you would like to. You may also want to use this guide, and step by step set up to help you to remember every detail of this very special day. Since you have everything you need right here, the only thing stopping, you from getting started is turning the page!

EXPERIENCE YOUR DREAM WEDDING ON A SHOESTRING BUDGET

INTRODUCTION

He's popped the question. The ring is on your finger. Now comes the stressful part. You want to throw the wedding of your dreams, but you're not Donald Trump's kid. What do you do?

Statistics say the average wedding costs $20,000. Most young girls dream of the fairy tale wedding: long white gown, 8 bridesmaids, a sit-down dinner, the band everyone dances to.

Many brides have been dreaming about their wedding day since childhood. These dreams come with an expensive price tag and the realization of their fairytale day may be distant. Although weddings are very costly today, your dream day can happen. I am going to share some tips to cut corners and save money without making huge sacrifices.

By taking the time to plan and investigate, you will be amazed at the amount of money that you save. Would you arrive at an interview for your dream job without prior preparation? No, you would not and that is why preparation and research will make your wedding a success without re-mortgaging the house!

It's only natural to want the Cinderella fantasy wedding, complete with ice sculptures, a heavenly cake, and thousands of guests who've flown in from around the world to enjoy the accompanying dinner. It's only human to cry at the bill that this dream can rack up.

Costs can add up quickly. Factor in the meal, the liquor, the music, the dress, the flowers, the photographer, the decorations and the dream wedding can seem way out of your league. But it doesn't have to be.

How can the average person have a beautiful wedding with all the bells and whistles on a working person's salary? Perhaps the three letters/words that say it best are – DIY (do it yourself!)

Spending your life savings on your big day is crazy. You can have elegant, beautiful weddings without breaking the bank.

SAVE YOUR MONEY FOR REAL LIFE

Introduction

A wedding is probably going to be the biggest event that you will ever plan in your lifetime. When you are making such a commitment to the person that you love and plan to spend the rest of your life with, you will want everything to go just perfectly.

Weddings are always a welcome addition to everyone's circle and they can a great source of joy to all people involved.

Nothing can be as fulfilling and as overwhelming than planning the wedding of your dreams. Most people assume that the most difficult part of having a wedding is getting the groom to propose.

But happens after that has been accomplished? What happens is the wedding has to be planned right down to last flower and place setting.

It really doesn't matter what type of wedding that you are planning to have or how many guests that you are planning to invite. You can plan a beautiful wedding that can suit any and every budget.

These days, most couples would prefer to spend the majority of their money on a great honeymoon, but still they want to have a memorable wedding. This will be your comprehensive guide to having the best and nicest wedding on a budget.

Just because you don't have the money to be able to afford the fanciest of everything, you can still host the wedding of your dreams. People throw weddings on a budget every day, and with this book handy, you will be able to do it too.

Why should something small like money put a stop to your dream wedding when it doesn't have to? These days, just about every wedding that you will see (unless the couple is rich) is going to be held on a budget.

Some weddings are even held on a budget as little as $1000. Just because you can't afford to pay thousands and thousands of dollars for a wedding doesn't mean that you can't throw a wedding to be admired by others.

With this guide to having a nice wedding on a budget, you will learn how to:

WEDDING ETIQUETTE

YES, THERE IS A PROPER WAY TO TIE THE KNOT, IF YOU ARE A TRADITIONALIST

Introduction

So you want to learn about proper wedding etiquette? In this guide you will learn all sorts of important things about etiquette and how it affects each one of the people that are in your wedding, come to your wedding and remember your wedding.

By taking the time to follow a few simple rules, everyone can find a place in your wedding memory book.

The good news is that you will learn a lot about all sorts of aspects of wedding etiquette that you may not have known about. In many ways, you may find yourself wondering about if you should do that or if you should do this. The goal is to provide you with the information you need to make a proper decision about your wedding.

Why Etiquette Is Essential

It's your wedding, do it your way and forget about the rest, right? If you plan to make a few people unhappy and quite a few more wondering where your manners are, then that is the way to go.

Although we do not want to think or talk about it, wedding etiquette is essential. At this very important time in your life, you want everyone to know who you are and what kind of life you are planning to live. The way that you present yourself here is the way they will see you as a couple.

Even if you do not care much about what they do and think, it is still essential for you to find a way to make them feel welcome into your life.

Not To Worry, It's Not Hard!

The hardest part of wedding etiquette is learning about it. That you will do here. The easy part is doing it. There are very few things that are too hard to accommodate. Besides, a wedding is all about pomp and circumstance, so why not lay it all out there?

SO, YOU'RE THINKING ABOUT HAVING A WINTER WEDDING

INTRODUCTION

Planning a wedding is one of the most exciting and nerve-wracking things for women. Women dream about the perfect wedding from the time they are little girls. Every woman wants her ideal wedding day, and most women put months into the planning of a wedding, carefully going over every detail. There are thousands of choices for almost every aspect of planning a wedding, which can make planning a wedding an exhausting experience. Some women choose to hire wedding planners to help them arrange all the details of the wedding. If you are planning on having a large wedding and have the extra money, a wedding planner can be a great help when planning a large wedding. If you are trying to cut costs, get a group of trustworthy girlfriends together and ask them to help with the planning. Just remember when you're planning your wedding that it's your special day, and you should pick what makes you happy.

WHY CHOOSE A WINTER WEDDING?

When most people think of planning a wedding, they plan a spring or summer wedding. June is the most popular month for weddings because of the traditionally nice weather and lots of sunshine. But there is a growing trend of brides choosing autumn or winter weddings instead of summer weddings. Winter weddings can be very beautiful and intimate, and certainly will stand out from the many summer weddings that are held each year. A winter wedding can be very romantic, intimate, and cozy.

While there are some disadvantages to having a winter wedding, there are some significant advantages. If you want a wedding that will be beautiful and truly unique, there are lots of different winter themes for weddings that are unique and can only be held in the winter months that will make your wedding very personal and very special. Women who like to do things differently may really like the different themes and style choices available for winter weddings that aren't available for spring or summer weddings. When deciding whether or not a winter wedding is the right choice for you, talk over the advantages and disadvantages of having a winter wedding with your fiancée before deciding if this is right for you.

INTRODUCTION

The big day is coming up! At this point you are no doubt engulfed in wedding planning. You're working hard to make sure your wedding is both memorable and enjoyable for you and your guests. One way to ensure that you have a great wedding is to put some time and thought into the activities and games you will have at your wedding.

After all, we've all been at weddings that were a little disappointing. Dull receptions with no one dancing, and table guests all sitting around staring at each other instead of mingling. It sucks the joy out of what should be a very joyous occasion. Fortunately, this kind of scenario is totally preventable with a little forward planning.

This guide is designed to help you with that planning and give you lots and lots of ideas to work with as you plan. We'll start by discussing the pros and cons of themed weddings, move on to creating fun at the ceremony itself, cover all areas of the reception, and take a look at some of the dances available. You'll learn about table games, spacing your activities, and ensuring that there is a little something for everyone at your party.

In the end, you will have the material you need to make good choices instead of leaving things to chance. While others may be confused and lost about their wedding, you will feel in control and informed after reading this guide. Your wedding is going to be great fun, so let's get started!

1 TO THEME OR NOT TO THEME?

One way that many people try to make their weddings a big hit is by using themes as a part of the ceremony. While this can make organizing the wedding easier, it is not always a perfect solution. The only way to know if a theme will be a good choice for you is by looking at the pros and cons of a themed wedding and considering your own personal situation.

HOW TO WRITE AND DELIVER A WINNING WEDDING SPEECH OR TOAST

Introduction

Giving public speeches is one of the largest phobias going right now; right behind heights, and tight spaces. Most people fear giving speeches out of a fear of looking or saying something foolish in front of others. The simple fact of it is that we all have to do it eventually. This is never truer than during a wedding.

Weddings are a time when everyone involved seems to be expected to give a speech. Most people do so willingly, but others are more reserved about it because it can be hard to find just the right type of speech that will be welcomed and enjoyed by the bride and groom.

Speeches are very uncomfortable when you have never given one. It can also be difficult to create a speech when you don't know the fundamentals behind writing one. That is why this guide was written. This will be your comprehensive guide to writing and giving wedding speeches that will be remembered.

You will learn how to write a speech, how to give a speech orally and much more. You will also learn good relaxation techniques that will help take the edge off while you are giving a speech. You will also be given many speech samples that will help you in crafting your own speeches or you can just use those given here. It's up to you.

Why agonize over the speech that you will give at a wedding? Weddings are meant to be a source of fun and happiness; not anxiety over having to give a speech. The next time that you are at a wedding, you can rest assured that you will be giving a speech that will be simpler than ever because you have chosen to arm yourself with the right tool. So let's get started.

The History of Wedding Speeches and Toasts

In the past, wedding speeches were generally left to be had with and between the fathers and occasionally the groom. Women did not really play much of a role in giving speeches in public at the wedding. Of course, that did not apply in every culture, but as a whole that was the case.

Wedding Savings Tip:

Many couples are choosing to get married on Thursday, Friday or Sunday nights. Those days are less expensive than Saturday weddings.)

Saturdays have been the wedding day of choice for years. But a new day is dawning. Folks have figured out that it's cheaper to get married on Thursdays, Fridays and Sunday nights. Sunday nights before a long holiday weekend is the most popular. The Fourth of July is also a big choice. Hmm, it's something to think about, now isn't it?

You might just I want to start thinking about what day you want to get married on. It's cheaper to get married on any other day EXCEPT Saturday. You'll have to make the decision if any other day will work for you. I can understand if you're hell bent on getting married on a Saturday because it has been historically the most common wedding day.

We'll just figure out another way to save you money if you decide to get married on a Saturday. Don't fret! We have a whole array of cost saving measures throughout this ebook. Don't try to decide on a day just yet. I just want to get you to thinking in the cost saving mode. We'll come back to planning the exact time, day and location of your wedding a little later in the ebook, but, for right now, let's talk about the pre-planning wedding stage or what I call the "la di dah stage."

If you haven't done so already, you'll want to spread the news to all of your loved ones. I understand that. In fact, you may want to tell everyone you come in

Talk to any wedding consultant and they will tell you. There are several key people that you'll need to pull your wedding off. Of course, your parents will be on hand to help if they can. The minister and musicians is also important people. However, I'd say your wedding party is very, very important.

Next to you, they are the people everyone is going to be gazing at. What do they have on? How is the hair and makeup styled? Shoes, do the shoes match perfectly? These are all questions your guests are going to ask as they watch your wedding party parade up and down the aisle. So of course, these are the key players aka stars.

Wedding Savings Tip:

Couples are saving money by buying wedding cakes, flowers and reception food from the local supermarkets.

Yup, this trend is really catching on. Couples are flocking to the local grocer for wedding finger food like chicken wings and cheese crackers. They are also saving money over catered prices for salads, vegetable platters, etc. Cake is the biggest buy. You can save at least 15% by buying your wedding cake depending on the size from a supermarket.

It may sound cheap but bear in mind, the bulk of your savings will come from cutting the costs at your wedding reception. I've actually had many couples ask me, "Do I really have to feed them?" They may have been joking, but my response was a resounding....

YES, YOU'VE GOT TO FEED THEM!

I know some people who have gone so far as to cook the food for the reception and store it in a freezer a week in advance. Still, others have gone to the grocery store to have the reception catered. However, buying from the supermarket is not the only way you can save money on food.

The time of day that you hold your wedding and reception also plays an important role. Take a look at the timetable I've developed. You can save a pretty penny by having your wedding during a time of day when folks are not "as hungry. Take a look at what I mean.

Wedding Savings Tip 1:

More and more couples are using black and white film for their wedding pictures. If that trend doesn't suit your fancy, you can always put a one-time use color camera on the reception tables and let your guests be the photographers.

Wedding Savings Tip 2:

This trend because is red hot! A member of your family or a friend can become temporarily ordained in order to marry you! Hey, don't laugh; you could save in ministerial costs on this one.

Okay, so maybe temporarily ordaining your brother to marry you doesn't sound like your cup of tea, but you can still save hundreds of dollars on preserving your wedding memories using the suggestions below.

SKIMPING WITHOUT MISSING A SHOT

Most couples decide to have a videographer and a photographer at the wedding. It can be very expensive hiring both. The professional rates begin as little as $100.00 an hour. It's well worth it if you ask me. There's nothing like a person with an "eye" that knows what to look for in pictures.

Let's go over the pros and cons of still and video shots. I know you're interested in saving a buck! However, I know you're much more concerned about saving your memories. Let's see how we can accomplish both goals.

The popularity of having a videotape of your wedding has grown throughout the years. One of the best things about video is that you can see the product right away. A skilled videographer actually shoots the video and edits the shot as he

SAVE ON YOUR HONEYMOON

- ~ The Early Bird
- ~ Easy To Tabulate Honeymoon Budget Table

Wedding Savings Tip:

Have you heard about honeymoon registries? Honeymoon registries actually allow gift givers to help pay for your honeymoon through their contributions. Gift givers can also pay for certain activities for you in advance while you're on your honeymoon. Great idea, huh? And it saves you some money as well. Let's see, what would you rather have a 3rd toaster or a scuba diving lesson?

THE EARLY BIRD

You should start planning the honeymoon early in your engagement. I suggest working with a travel agent who can help you figure out the best trip for you. They also can give you discounts based on their high sales volume and, as they are experts on the trends in the business, they can help you find the best deal.

You should look for an agent that specializes in cruises if you want to go on that type of honeymoon. If you don't want to use a travel agent, then you can also check out the tourist office in the place where you want to honeymoon to get free hotel and activities information. Let's take a look at my...

BOOK THE TRIP ONLINE

It doesn't matter if you're booking a trip several months ahead of time or last minute in a lot of cases if you book your trip online. You can find some really great deals this way. There are several websites that you can find that offer these deals. Check out our resource guide at the end of the ebook for more information.

WEDDING PLANNING

PLANNING YOUR HONEYMOON ADVENTURE

The wedding is just the beginning. There's plenty of excitement planning the honeymoon as well, from choosing a travel adventure to deciding on what to bring along on the journey. And for many, planning this great "escape" is just as important as planning the actual wedding. Regardless of where you decide to go, there are some things you should know to make it the kind of experience you want it to be.

First, you must decide on a budget. If money is not an issue, bon-voyage! However, if you're like most engaged couples, you're already paying more than you anticipated. Establish a budget and use it as a guide.

You'll also need to decide whether you want an all-inclusive, one-price-does-it-all, leave-the-wallet-at-home type of trip, or a more do-it-yourself package with car rental, lodging, food, and activities on an a la carte basis. Cruises technically fall under the all-inclusive category, as do resorts.

Of course, honeymoon budgeting takes on a new meaning if you decide to do a "destination wedding". These are becoming very popular as more and more couples decide to forego the traditional wedding costs in addition to the honeymoon expense. There are especially popular with second marriages. It's easier to get married in some countries than others, so be sure to check with a reliable source, like a country's consulate or the U.S. Department of State, before making any arrangements.

Now you need to book and pay for this trip. Many honeymoon suppliers offer special rates for early booking, which may or may not include airfare. Packages that include airfare can offer significant savings because retailers buy airline seats in at a discount, then package hotel, and sometimes car rentals as well.

You may also want to consider using a honeymoon gift registry to help with expenses. Check with your local travel agent to see if they offer this kind of service or you can investigate more on the internet. A good place to start is at www.TheHoneymoon.com. Honeymoon registries allow guests, friends and family to contribute toward specific elements of your honeymoon, like shore excursions, parasailing, spa services, and tours.

RECEPTION PLANNING & RESOURCES

(THE A-Z GUIDE)

Finding the Perfect Reception Location

What exactly should you look for in your reception location, aside from that sense of rightness you know you'll have the moment you find the most perfect spot? Shopping for a site is like finding a mate, a test you've obviously mastered. You should be looking for the same sorts of things like: charm, personality, depth, more than just a pretty face or perfect body (although looks do count!). Take along this list of what to look for from <http://www.the-knot.com> when you're ready to go scouting.

 Roomy Fit

First, make sure the room is large enough to accommodate the number of people of your guest list. The space may look very large when it's completely empty, but not when you factor in the wedding essentials such as: tables, chairs, a buffet, the band or DJ setup, the dance floor, etc... Not to mention your guests, who'll need some elbow room. Even if you choose an outdoor site, you'll need ample room on the lawn, or poolside. What's the best way to assess the size of a site? Ask to checkout the place when another wedding is being set up! Of course, if you decide you must have your wedding at your favorite bar (the one with only one bathroom, two booths, and 4 feet of floor space), you can always work backwards and tailor your guest list to match.

 Privacy, Please!

Privacy varies widely from place to place, as does the importance couples place on it. If you're having a daytime event in a public location, such as a park or botanical garden, be prepared for strangers to trek past your party. They may even smile, wave, and come by to offer their best wishes. If this is okay with you (the more the merrier!), why not go for the part? If not, opt for a lovely lawn on a private estate, with a nice lake nearby. Or hold the reception at a restaurant or gallery that will post a "CLOSED FOR PRIVATE PARTY" sign.

In addition, don't think that just because you're indoors you're safe from uninvited guests! Banquet halls and hotels often hold more than one affair at a time. If there'll be other events going on simultaneously in rooms close to yours,

WHO EXACTLY PAYS FOR WHAT?

WEDDING PLANNING

WHO EXACTLY PAYS FOR WHAT?

(TRADITIONALLY)

While there are no absolute or “official” rules on who pays for what, I hope to shed some light for the most commonly used guidelines. Traditionally, the majority of the wedding is paid for by the brides’ family. But, because of the increasing costs of weddings today, these obligations will usually depend on the circumstance and/or situation. It is best to discuss this when both families can be present so they can decide on the best possible solution for each family’s needs. Below I have compiled a list of whom (traditionally speaking) pays for what.

The Bride

- The wedding ring for the groom
- A wedding gift for the groom
- Gifts for all bridal attendants
- Accommodations for out of town guests

The Groom

- The bride’s engagement ring and wedding rings
- A wedding gift for the bride to be
- Gifts for the best man and ushers
- Grooms wedding attire (tux rental, etc..)
- Bride’s bouquet and going-away corsage
- Mothers’ corsage
- Boutonnieres for attendants and fathers
- Marriage license
- Clergyman’s fee
- The honeymoon expenses
- Bachelor’s dinner (if not already given by best man)

The Bride’s Family

- Engagement party (optional)
- Ceremony cost: location, rental, music, & all related expenses

YEAR-LONG WEDDING CHECKLIST

(FOR THOSE WHO LIKE ORGANIZATION)

Your wedding should be coming up within the next 6 to 12 months. Do you know what to do and when exactly you need to do them? Here is a guided timeline that specifically gives you the approximate time tasks that should be completed within that time frame. Use the following list as a guide to help you get the right things done, in the appropriate order. Print this guide out and “check off” all the items that you have completed to make things less stressful and more fun for you.

Six To Twelve (6 -12) Months Before The “Big Day”!

- ☐ Announce your engagement
- ☐ Decide on what kind of wedding and the time of day. Are you prepared to feed your guests dinner or do you want a simple ceremony with cake and punch only? The time of day that you choose will dictate the food choices.
- ☐ Pick a date. Do this as soon as possible so that your bridal party and faraway family can begin making arrangements for hotels and scheduling time away from their workplace.
- ☐ Choose a location. Remember to take into consideration what the weather could be like on your wedding day. So keep an open mind. Set a budget. This is so important. Discuss it carefully between the two of you and your respective families.
- ☐ Start planning the reception. Secure a hall, hotel, lodge, or whatever suits you guys for your reception area.
- ☐ Select the bridal party. It is important to do this as soon as possible so these special people can set aside some time away from work to fulfill their duties and roles in your wedding.
- ☐ Secure the church and inquire about premarital counseling. Some churches require this for a marriage to be allowed.
- ☐ Choose your colors. Your flowers, attire, linens, and cake will reflect your choice. Since you have to shop for these items fairly far in advance, it's important that you are rock-solid on your color decision.

FIVE THINGS TO THINK ABOUT WHEN PLANNING A WINTER WEDDING

There is something to be said for going against wedding tradition and having your wedding during the winter season rather than the traditional warmer weather. You are likely to have more people able to attend because it is not traditionally a popular vacation time. Plus, a winter wedding normally limits some of the choices in terms of themes, colors and such, which can actually be a blessing in disguise!

Location, Location, Location

HANDY HINTS FOR YOUR WINTER WEDDING FLOWERS

The most important piece of advice when it comes to your winter wedding flowers is to choose what is in season and popular during that winter time frame. You will save a lot of money in your wedding budget if you follow this one simple piece of advice, that is, unless you have an unlimited budget and money is no object.

In addition, if you are worrying about centerpieces for a church altar or flower decorations for a hotel or country club reception, ask about what the existing décor will be during your wedding. Chances are that you could get away with minimal additional flowers because the facility will already be decorated for the winter season. It is an important question to ask as it could lead you to your own flower choices to complement your surroundings.

FOUR FUN WEDDING FAVOR IDEAS FOR WINTER OR CHRISTMAS WEDDINGS

Having a wedding during the winter season, especially Christmas time, is the perfect time to let your inner Martha Stewart come out to play to create some clever favors for guests. There are a plethora of homemade ideas that can easily be duplicated for a larger scale, depending on the number of people on your guest list. Sure, you could just buy ready-made wedding favors if you have the budget for it, however it will mean more if you have your personal stamp on the favors.

Homemade Cook Book

With technology being what it is today, it is very simple to type up a few recipes and arrange them into a cookbook format. At a print shop, you could have the recipes bound in any form or fashion. The cookbook doesn't have to be huge; maybe three or four of your and your soon-to-be spouse's favorites along with an anecdote or two about them. Be sure to include one or two from each set of parents along with a small story. Creating a custom cover of you and your intended is the crowning touch.

Hot Cocoa Mix

HUNGRY IDEAS FOR WINTER WEDDING RECEPTION FOOD FUN

Having your wedding during one of the winter months means a bit more creativity, especially when it comes to the food and drink for your reception. Certain traditional "wedding foods" may not be very representative of the time of year nor the possible cold weather that may be lurking right outside. Therefore, you want to embrace the season and pick some perennial winter food and drink favorites.

TIPS FOR OUTFITTING THE WEDDING PARTY FOR YOUR WINTER WEDDING

A winter wedding can be a beautiful thing but it does pose it share of challenges given that you are dealing with a cooler, perhaps even snowy season. Do you know what you are planning to do in terms of attire, not only as far as the bridal gown is concerned but also bridesmaid dresses and even what the groom and groomsmen are wearing? With the men, it is a bit easier to determine but the women have countless options in terms of color and style.

The Groom and Groomsmen

BRAINSTORMING YOUR WINTER WEDDING INVITATIONS

Believe it or not, you have quite a few winter wedding invitation options to choose from, especially if your date is near Christmas or New Year's. Whether you go through a professional printer or you do it yourself, you have plenty of paper options as well as ink colors, stationery designs and more.

Do-It-Yourself Invitations

Many people getting married these days have tight budgets and do-it-yourself options are the best route to take. In fact, there are quite a few options you can do on your own computer and printer at home. There are some lovely winter and

WINNING IDEAS FOR YOUR WINTER WEDDING CAKE

A winter wedding is a lovely idea; one that not many brides take advantage of. It's a magical time and a wedding timed for the winter season, whether you tie it into a Christmas theme or not, has many options in regard to wedding cakes. This is a great opportunity to have your creative ideas shine through!

Direct Christmas-Related Cake Ideas

If your wedding is near Christmas and you are capitalizing on the season with your winter wedding theme, carry that theme over to your cake. Have the baker fashion each cake layer as a wrapped gift, complete with ribbon. Magic is often made with fondant, marzipan, and sugar these days. Or, you can have a traditional tiered white wedding cake and use a snow globe as a whimsical cake topper.

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

WRITE IT DOWN

So, you're thinking about getting married. You're planning to pop the question. You've probably given at least a little thought to what you're going to say and whether you plan to utter those immortal lines on bended knee. When you run through the plan in your head, everything goes perfectly. You sound suave, she breaks into joyous tears and yells, "YES." It's like a movie.

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

Proposing isn't really like making a movie, though. If you stumble over your lines or forget a cue, you don't get a second take. You have to nail it perfectly the first time.

You could try to memorize your elegant proposal, but once the adrenaline starts pumping, your mind can start playing tricks on you. You could try to wing it, but that won't create the kind of lasting memory you really want.

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

The solution? Write it down. It may seem strange to have a hand-held cue card when asking for her hand, but it will guarantee that each word of your sentiment-laden proposal will pass your lips. She'll remember what you said and how you said. The notes won't bother her a bit.

Make a thoroughly decent proposal. Write it down!

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

SAVE THE DATE

Getting engaged is only the first, very small step toward actually walking down the aisle. Yes, it is a critical aspect of the process, but it really only serves to set things in motion. Once the proposal is delivered and accepted, it's time to get ready for the actual wedding. A good first step? Set a date for your ceremony.

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

This accomplishes a few things. First, it prevents you from falling into the unfortunate "perpetual engagement" rut.

We all know couples who are there. They've been engaged for years but never seem to make things happen. You certainly don't want to fall into that unfortunate category.

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

Second, setting a date puts the wheels of planning and preparation into motion. You'll do a much better job of planning and organizing your wedding if you start with a firm date in mind than if you just have some vague notion of when you'd like to "get around" to exchanging vows.

With the proposal done and accepted, it's time to take the first serious step to becoming an actual married couple. Choose your date and act accordingly!

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

THE NAME GAME

The couple decides to get married. The man assumes that his bride will take his last name. The woman assumes the man knows she'll keep her maiden name. Controversy ensues. His friends like the maiden name idea. Hers are aghast that she wouldn't take his surname. Friends are trying to broker a compromise deal involving hyphenation. She's game. He isn't. It's the name game and it can get downright ugly.

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

If you're planning on a marriage, decide the name issue early and together. Discuss your preferences and reach a conclusion with which both parties can live.

Don't assume anything and don't be worried if your idea of a perfect name situation may not match with traditional norms.

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

REHEARSE THE LOOK

We all know about wedding rehearsals. It's a great way to make sure your niece knows how to handle flower girl responsibilities, to remind your old college friend of where to stand during the services. It also serves as a perfect excuse for a great nerve-calming dinner party among friends and loved ones.

There's another rehearsal, however, that is just valuable. Don't just rehearse the scenario, rehearse the look.

Things To Think About When Planning A Wedding

WHO'S PICKING UP THE CHECK?

The road to you-know-where isn't paved with good intentions. It really consists of carefully organized wrong assumptions. You'll have plenty of opportunities to make assumptions as you plan your wedding, and at each turn, you should stop yourself and seek out a definitive answer before proceeding. The question of who's paying is a perfect example.
